"What matters is that my clients are happy," he says. "Their testimonials and their referrals are the true awards."

Katz explains that many of his clients relocate to Florida from out-of-state, and that his website, www.JeffreyJKatz.com, has been instrumental in helping him grow his business in what most would consider a challenging market environment. "My website has received approximately 150,000 unique visitors in the past year. I've welcomed many new clients to Florida online before meeting them in person. They know all about my experience and the market conditions by the time they pick up the phone."

However, the importance of the personal touch is never lost on Katz. "Service is everything. The internet can help attract new business, but service lets you keep it. My clients trust me to take care of them, and I never forget that."
